May presentation

Bring your spouse to this month's coin meeting. It might save them thousands and thousands of dollars when you're gone.

Have you ever thought about what's going to happen to your collection when you're gone? Do your spouse and children know what's good and what's junk? Do they know how to get a fair price?

There are a lot of crooks out there. Our speaker this month will tell you how to avoid them.

Beth Deisher, former Coin World editor and author of Cash In Your Coins — Selling the Rare Coins You've Inherited, 2nd Edition, is our speaker.

She says:

I will be covering three areas that collectors don't like to think about, but must in order to protect their collections and their heirs.

- 1. Why it's important to have a current inventory of your collection and the basics of setting up an inventory.
- 2. Appraisals — who, what, when, and where.
- 3. How various state and federal laws may affect your estate and your heirs.

Of course, these subjects and more are dealt with in Cash In Your Coins — Selling the Rare Coins You've Inherited, 2nd Edition.

Beth will also bring a few copies of her book if you want to buy one.

For your family, this might be the most important CONA meeting you've ever attended.

Coin World Editor-at-Large Steve Roach, who will be conducting the seminar for the third time, said, "This time around it might be fun to focus on problem coins . . . or cleaned coins. Something non-standard."

April presentation

Brad Karoleff, editor of the John Reich Journal, Coin World columnist and ANA 2013 coin dealer of the year, talked about collecting Bust coins by die marriage.

He said he started collecting by die marriage "because you get tired of collecting by date."

Karoleff, who has been collecting Bust coins by die marriage since 1978, said he has acquired 442 of 453 known Bust half dollar die marriages.

Bust halves, he noted, tend to be in nice condition because many were used as bank reserves in the early 1800s and tended not to circulate.

Overdates, he said, are also common in early U.S. coins because die steel was too valuable to waste. "That's the most valuable thing they have at the Mint. Die steel was more valuable than silver."
